

Spotlight
On The Talented Daly Family

A talented actor on stage and in front of the camera, Seth Daly is certainly making waves in Los Angeles where he moves back and forth between theater and movie/TV gigs. Since Seth is well trained for both disciplines, he excels with both and has had enormous success as a result. Most recently, Seth booked the coveted role of "Tom" in "Camelot" the musical that will be performed at the Pasadena Playhouse in Los Angeles. Seth's mom says that the audition process for this particular role was rather arduous as they had him prepare 2 contrasting songs that were sung over and over again with the Director, he was also asked to demonstrate his violin and harmonica playing talent, as well as his juggling ability!

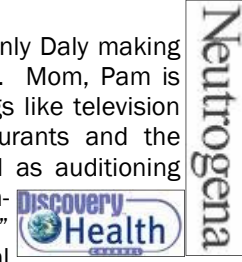

Seth also opened a show called the "Rabbit Hole" at the Long Beach Playhouse, Los Angeles where he has received loads of accolades from various publications including: The Butler Saw, says that the keenest performance of the evening [in Rabbit Hole] was by Seth. Long Beach Press said that Seth is, "a good mix of teenage bravado, angst and awkwardness," while the Orange County Register decided that Seth, "Shows us a decent, conscientious young man carrying a burden of guilt, seeking any way within his power to make amends." Wow, sounds like a pretty good start to us! We're waiting for the rave reviews from Camelot that are sure to come streaming in!

Seth's ever-growing resume is one that rivals adult actors! Why all the acclaim so early in his career? Much can be credited to his continued participation in acting classes and other related training! So learn from Seth and keep practicing your skills people! You never know when you might need to wow the crowd with your skills!

On the flip side, Seth isn't the only Daly making things happen out in Hollywood. Mom, Pam is also busy getting booked for gigs like television commercials for Norm's Restaurants and the Apex Research Institute as well as auditioning for a Neutrogena You Tube commercial, a pilot called "Your Kids Ate What?" on Discovery Health, and another commercial for Allstate.

Marissa

* It's nothing but FUN for Marissa Irwin as she continues to stay busy in bella Italia. Our gal is a hit with the Italians as she is booked consistently for fashion shows, print jobs, and hair shows. A European designer known as "pinko" booked our gal for a fabulous fashion show, while a hair company called "Vitality" booked her to star in a print ad! What else?! Marissa also got in front of the folks at Wella in Milan where she was greeted by a huge poster of herself from an ad she did in NYC last year! We'd say that has to be a pretty good omen for success! While we can't wait to welcome Ms. Irwin home, we sure are ecstatic about all her Italian adventures!

* Yep, they are gorgeous and they look natural on camera, which is exactly what the client ordered when they decided to book Kayla Moore and Anna Dzuorcvin for 2 DAYS of print for DOTS. Our gals not only had a terrific time on set, they also felt pretty cool getting to see the company's brand new products for spring 2010 before ANYONE else! What's even better??? Anna and Kayla's technical skills and awesome personalities got them booked again for the start of the New Year too! Take a look here first at how great they did!
